DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1 and 5 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over cited prior art and further in view of Willborn et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,529,850).

3. With respect to claims 1 and 5, the cited prior art disclosed an apparatus and method for estimating a movement speed of a mobile unit including: receiving a first signal corresponding to a signal transmitted from the mobile unit (see e.g. Fig.1, step 101), obtaining a second signal by calculating an envelope of the first signal (103), calculating a correlation coefficient of the signal (105), obtaining a Doppler frequency of the correlation coefficient referring to a corresponding relationship between the correlation coefficient and the Doppler frequency (107), and estimating the movement speed frequency of the mobile unit according to said Doppler frequency (109) except for obtaining a third signal by multiplying the second signal by a carrier, the carrier including a carrier frequency. However, Willborn et al. disclose an apparatus and method of velocity estimation by multiplying the envelope signal by the carrier (see e.g. Fig.6, col. 2, lines 45-57). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to obtain the signal by multiplying the envelope signal by the carrier as taught by Wilborn et al. to the method from the cited prior art to estimate the speed of the mobile unit and measure the receiver power in the mobile unit receiver more accurate and less interference and distortion signal from multipath varies with changes in the position of the mobile unit.

4. Claims 2-4 and 6-9 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
